Paintball With The Captain:
Chol HaMoed Activity
For The Adventurous

By Yaakov Kenner

There has always been a segment of the frum community that is somewhat more adventurous than the norm. These are the Jews who gravitate toward excitement and perhaps toward athleticism.

Maybe you know them. Maybe they are members of your family. Perhaps you yourself are one of them. Whatever the relationship, if you love them you should know that to deny these individuals the opportunity to safely express these attributes often leads to frustration, dulling of the mind, and unhealthy manifestations that are harmful physically, mentally, and spiritually.

An intriguing opportunity for these adventurous souls is available this Chol HaMoed Pesach.

Captain Even-Esh is the head of an organization called Shomer360, which endeavors “to instill strength and confidence through world class self-defense techniques within a Torah observant framework.”

He is a ba'al teshuvah who served in both the IDF and the U.S. Marines. During the year he teaches Krav Maga, a form of Israeli military self-defense, in yeshivas and to Jewish communities throughout the tri-state area. And on Chol HaMoed Pesach and Sukkot he runs a paintball program, fashioned after authentic military training, attended by Orthodox Jews ranging from chassidish and yeshivish to Modern Orthodox and Dati Leumi.

The event lasts a full day with a stop in the middle to daven Minchah and with a break after every battle to reload, debrief, and plan the next paintball scenario.

The scenarios are as varied as castles, World War II, and trench warfare. The fields actually feature decommissioned military vehicles and aircraft the players can use as cover and concealment as they advance with “fire and movement” toward the opposing team.

“What I most enjoy is when father and son or brother and brother teams join the game,” said Captain Even-Esh. “The bonding that takes place is just so powerful and makes for great memories.”

This Chol HaMoed, Thursday April 13, Paintball

with the Captain will take place at High Velocity Paintball in Coram, Long Island. The entire facility will be rented out by Shomer360 and is open to men ages thirteen and older. The games will run from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and include paintball marker (rifle), 500 paintballs, helmet and eye protection, and of course the authentic military training of Captain Even-Esh.

Price of admission is $75 and everyone must pre-register. Tickets can be purchased at the Shomer360 website – www.shomer360/store. Captain Even-Esh can be reached at evenesh@shomer360.com or 917-376-3637.
